Winner of the PEN/Faulkner Prize 2015 Winner of the 2015 Paris Review Plimpton Prize for Fiction In post-9/11 New York, Zou Lei is an illegal immigrant from northwest China. Forced to work fourteen-hour days and live in squalor, she nevertheless embraces the many freedoms her adopted homeland has to offer. Damaged by three tours in Iraq, veteran Brad Skinner comes to New York with the sole intention of partying as hard as he can in order to forget what he's seen. Impulsive and angry, Skinner's re-entry into civilian life seems doomed. But when he meets Zou Lei they discover that new beginnings may be possible for both of them, that is if they can survive homelessness, lockup and Skinner's post-traumatic stress disorder. This "deeply immersive novel" (The Washington Post) from the author of the award-winning Preparation for the Next Life is an "epic coming-of-age tale filled with pain, heartache, fear, and undying love" (The Associated Press), as a young man's yearning to protect his dying mother requires him to risk destroying his estranged, enigmatic, powerful father. "From its hypnotic opening pages, we find ourselves in the sure hands of a roaming omniscient narrator, one who knows intimately the beating hearts of its two central characters" -André Dubus III, The New York Times Book Review Corey Goltz grows up in the working-class outskirts of Boston as the only child of Gloria, whose ambitions were derailed early but who has always given her son everything she can. Corey, restless, dreams of leaving home for a great adventure. Instead, when he is fifteen, the world comes crashing down upon him, when Gloria is diagnosed with ALS and, too late, his estranged father, Leonard-a man of great charisma but dubious moral character-reenters the picture. Determined to be his mother's hero at any cost, Corey begins shouldering responsibility for her expensive medical care, pushing himself to his physical and emotional limits as her disease cruelly progresses. And as Leonard's influence over Corey grows, Corey must dismantle the myth of his father's genius and confront the evil that lurks beneath it. Gritty, visceral, and profoundly stirring, The War for Gloria tells the story of a young man, straddling childhood and adulthood, whose yearning to protect his mother requires him to risk destroying his father. An indelible work from a strikingly original voice in American fiction.

NALI By Esther Henry In an era of darkness, mystery, tropical jungles and cannibalism, Nali tries to buck the ancient traditions, only to find herself deeply entrenched in them. As a young girl full of dreams, she is given to a tribal elder in marriage and quickly learns that her girlhood dreams could be shattered overnight. The rain forest held a secret refuge that only Nali knew, where she took her dreams and her delusions. Will she be forced to succumb to a subservient role the rest of her life, or can she overcome the hopelessness that comes with isolation, ignorance and tradition? Deep in the heart of New Guinea lies the village of Mendoka, beautifully camouflaged from the rest of the world. Although the village has yet to be discovered, the outside world would soon have an influence on their lives. An interruption to their peaceful simplicity would both terrify them and cause them to search for answers. Readers will be able to follow the lives of those who lived in a much simpler time and become immersed in the culture that controlled their everyday existence.

Life's preparation is about life and how God prepares us in advance for the life he intended for us. I strongly believe at an early age, we are put in situations and have experience that prepares us for the future. We simply have not made the connection. Everything is connected, and once we realize that, we will have a better understanding of life. Not knowing I was going to have a special-need child, early on in life, I was exposed to this particular environment. Through the years, I have always felt comfortable around special-need children. Therefore, by the time I had my son, I was already prepared. I spent my life giving because that was the example I had growing up. When I had my kids and not able to work because of my son, different people came at different time of my life to cater to my needs. Give and you shall receive. When you show love, much love comes back to you. Again, everything is connected. What you put out is what comes back to you. My life has been an example. Many times I have reached out and the other person simply did not know how to react or misunderstood the gesture. I have said many times that our job is to be there for one another. Sometimes, a small gesture or simple gift can make someone's day. As a child, my mom used to tell me to appreciate the simplest and cheapest gift that is given to me. She would say that the gift itself is not the most important thing it is the fact that you were thought of. My life and experiences have been everything that I have put out there. All the blessings that have come my way I strongly believe have to do with my heart being in the right place at all times. God puts me in the situation and I gave it my all. Everything that is happening right now is the result of me obeying God's will for my life.

A Lifetime of Preparation is one man's testimony of gritty reality, which showcases the result of decades of missed moments, poor choices, and a closed heart. Through the turbulent teenage years, garage bands, twenty years of Naval service, and the mission field in Africa, there were broken dreams and shattered lives. The author takes us through the most troubling times and heart-breaking loss but ends with putting his trust in Christ, resulting in great personal victory against the most compelling odds. Through the highest of highs and the lowest of lows, the author reminds us that God is still weaving a beautiful tapestry which is our life, and He's powerful enough to soften our hearts to establish and even reawaken our relationship with Him through Christ.
